

Drugs seized

A total of $18 million worth of heroin was seized during the first two months of USAREUR's push to decrease drug abuse. The amount taken during January and February of this year equals the amount seized during all of 1978.

Apprehensions of pushers totaled 356 for the two months while 1978 efforts netted 168 for the same period.

LTC John Valieant, chief of the Command's newly formed Drug Suppression Operation Center, attributed the increases to additional law enforcement assets and the coordinated efforts of commanders and German and American police units.

The suppression center was formed as a keystone of USA-REUR's plan to provide soldiers in Europe with a cleaner, more drug-free environment, said a USAREUR spokesman. The plan includes nearly 30 specific actions aimed at eliminating pushers, helping users overcome drug problems and providing non-users additional support.

As the suppression center becomes fully operational and additional resources are approved and supplied under the plan, officials anticipate continued increases in arrests and seizures.

It's time for spring clean-up

Spring is sprung.

The grass is riz.

I wonder where the flowers iz?

(Oh, there they are — under the litter!)

Isn't it a shame that when the snow melts and the trees, grass and flowers begin to flourish great deposits of litter mar the landscape? Berliners have begun already their cleanup efforts. They're out sweeping, raking and planting.

Now it's our turn. The American Community in Berlin will launch a massive cleanup campaign on April 16 to beautify and police housing areas, community support areas, caserns and training areas.

A number of projects will be conducted, for two weeks, to improve the appearance of the American Community.

Common use areas will be the target of DYA, Girl Scout and Boy Scout trash squads. The youngsters will be policing the grounds around Truman Plaza and the theaters.

The Self Help Issue Point (see centerspread story) will be open, in addition to its regular hours, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on April 21 to distribute fertilizer, grass seed, paint and other spruce-up items to authorized personnel. (Unfortunately, flowers will not be available until the middle of May.)

The Directorate of Engineering and Housing will be sweeping streets on April 18 — American community north of Huettenweg; April 19 — American community south of Huettenweg and Leichhardt housing area; April 20 and 21 — Dueppel housing area; April 23 — Turner Barracks and US Army Hospital; April 24 — Schlagenbader and Sundgauer Strasse housing area; April 25 — McNair Barracks and April 26 — Andrews Barracks and Baseler Strasse housing area. Residents are asked to move their cars to allow sweepers to move freely.

Clean up activities will be followed on April 30 by a judging of the housing areas for the best buildings and grounds awards. Area coordinators will be the judges. A separate inspection will be conducted the same day by the community commander and his staff. If you have any questions about cleanup activities, call SGM Charles F. Gupton, project officer, at 6307.

Come on! Drag out those old work clothes, rakes and hoes and get ready for Spring Clean-up. If everyone pitches in with his or her talents and energies, the American Community in Berlin will be a showplace of which we all can be proud.

LITTER HURTS — When trash hides the beauty of spring, it's time for everyone to pitch in and help clean up the area. (Photo by Carol Capers)

Hope y'all have an enjoyable Easter. Take it easy on the chocolate candies and jelly beans though!

A special "Thanks, but no thanks" to the Berlin Observer for publishing an erroneous movie schedule in the March 30 issue. It just goes to show that anyone can make mistakes, so I will personally take my two thousand lashes with a wet typewriter ribbon!

Seems many people really enjoyed the Medieval Banquet held at the All American Rec Center Saturday. Word has it that the dinner was delicious and the entertainment divine. Three gold stars to Susan Frankart, All American director, and to all the others involved in this unusual night of delight. Hopefully, it won't be the last!

Someone told me that she was going to "blow the Andrews Launderette off the face of the earth" because the dryers are always running out of hot air. According to Bob Brooks, AAFES general manager, since they've switched to water as a heating element instead of steam, they've had some problems, but they are working on it.

It's time for everyone to "clean up their act" and their housing areas when the spring cleanup begins April 16 and lasts till April 30. This is something everyone can get involved with and be proud of.

Here are a few mini-Tidbits about AAFES you might like to know. The Four Seasons Store is now expanding its stock of furniture and outdoor living merchandise. Did you know that you get a free oil change when you buy your oil from the AAFES garage? Also, remember that active duty soldiers who are caught shoplifting may be court-martialed. Dependents caught shoplifting will lose their PX privileges for a minimum of six months.

Till next week . . .

New policy

Effective April 16, Americans shopping in East Berlin hard currency retail outlets, such as Inter-shop, Intertank and Genex, may be asked to show identity documents.

For active duty military personnel, their uniforms will suffice as identification. USFB-ID card holders may show their USFB-ID cards to establish their status. Individuals should not relinquish control of their cards. Passport carriers should show their passports.

The controls will be the result of a new hard currency coupon system scheduled to be introduced for residents by the GDR government April 16 that has been extended to the Soviet sector of Berlin.

The new coupon system will not apply to non-GDR citizens. Americans and other non-GDR citizens will still be able to make purchases for cash in hard currency stores.

Holiday schedules

Everyone is reminded that due to the training holiday on Monday, April 16, the American buses will be operating on the holiday schedule. Also, be sure and check the newsnote section for complete AAFES schedule during the holidays.

It's the law

German road ordinances require several safety features on your bicycle prior to riding on public streets or bicycle paths. Yellow reflectors must be on both sides of both pedals, and your bicycle must be equipped with a bell, not a horn. Both front and rear wheels must have brakes, although the rear wheel brake may be hand- or pedal-operated. Bicycles ridden at night must have a taillight at least 15 3/4" and not more than 23 3/4" above the ground. In addition, a headlight with at least three watts of power, capable of illuminating the road five meters to the front of the bicycle, is required during the hours of darkness.

Latest reg has new uniform policies

If you haven't already bought yourself a pair of patent leather low quarters, don't. They're not authorized. But if you're a female soldier who's spotted a pair of black patent leather pumps you'd like to have, go ahead.

And if you like to wear your fatigues tailored to fit your form, forget it.

Tie tacks have joined clasps on the black tie approved list, by the way. And if a Windsor or half-Windsor knot is your thing when wearing the Army green or blue uniforms, you're a member of the "in" crowd.

These are a few of the many rules found in recently-issued AR 670-1, Wear and Appearance of Army Uniforms and Insignia.

Most of what's in the reg isn't really new. But the Feb. 15, 79, edition pulls together into an easy-to-read package a large pile of interim changes and updates.

When he went through the consolidated reg, USAREUR CSM Frederick K. Tracey took out his yellow highlighter and marked a few provisions he thinks need special emphasis.

Handlebar mustaches and flared sideburns. They're out. Female soldiers' uniform skirts and dresses. The hem can't be more than two inches below or one inch above mid-knee.

Cold weather coat (field jacket). OK with field, hospital and food service uniforms. Not OK with tans and khakis. Shoulder patches go on the field jacket, but not on the woolly winter shirt.

Hair. If it won't fit under your hat properly, or comes down over your eyebrows, ears or collar, you've got too much.

Overcoat. The green one goes with greens, blues, mess blues and hospital duty uniforms, but will be replaced someday by the black raincoat with liner. The black combination raincoat/overcoat (with or without liner) goes with the tan, khaki, green, blue, evening dress and mess uniforms. If your neck's cold, an Army black scarf is authorized with the black coat.

Sweater. The one for male soldiers has buttons. When you have it on, button up — all the way. You can wear it with civvies. Windbreaker. It has a zipper. Keep it zipped at least 3/4 of the way up. Wear it only with the tan, food service and hospital duty uniforms. It can go with civvies too — after you take off the insignia.

Combat boots. Make them plain or capped toe. Wear only olive green socks inside.

Shoes. No patent leather except for female pumps. Male troops can wear black chukka boots with all uniforms except field and utility, provided the toes are plain, they have non-contrasting soles and any buckles are small and plain. Female soldiers can wear plain-toed, ankle-high black jodhpur boots with their green pantsuit.

Undershirts. Soldiers now have the option of wearing V-neck shirts. Colored baseball caps.

Yes, but only for aircraft and ground crew members when used for safety and identification measures. They must be a solid color, authorized by the local commander and issued to troops without charge. Colored baseball caps are out for everyone else.

Identification tags. Required when in field training, flying or reporting to an Army medical treatment facility, and anytime you're outside of CONUS — like now.

Civilian rings. Don't wear more than two when in uniform, and these must be conservatively styled and in good taste.

Food handlers and hospital duty uniforms. Only bright pin-on rank insignia and a nameplate are authorized for wear on these uniforms.

Enlisted insignia. The "U.S." and branch collar brass must be gold in color. No domed brass and no anodized aluminum. Measurement is the same distance as always, but now you measure from the collar notch. Positioning is the same on tans and khakis as on greens.

As an item of general interest, anodized aluminium buttons are still authorized with the green uniform. But only gold colored brass can be worn.

Those are just a few highlights. Details are in the Feb. 15, 79, edition of AR 670-1, which went into distribution in mid-February.

Art Guild participating in exhibition

Berlin has always been a mecca for friends of the fine arts. There are so many museums, galleries, private collections and special showings that trying to see them all could easily turn into a daily adventure!

One show you shouldn't miss is the 9th Free Jury Exhibition at the Funkturm, which opened Sun. and can be viewed daily until May 6 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. in exhibition halls 11-15. Entrance fee is DM 3. A catalog costs DM 15.

One thousand eight hundred and thirty pieces of art, attractively displayed, present the contemporary art scene in Berlin. The works of professors and students of the Hochschule der Kuenste Berlin, big-name professionals and unknown amateurs hang side-by-side. Whether your preference is people, posies, politics or pollution, you can be sure to find and even buy something that suits your taste in art objects. On opening day a steady stream of several thousand viewers stepped closely to get a better look at paintings, sculptures and displays. Jazz bands, a children's workshop and a refreshment center added to the cheerful mood.

In the midst of this gala art extravaganza, 16 artists of the American Community are represented by "The American Art Guild" (exhibit hall 15, booth 64) and "Selbsthilfe Berliner Kuenstler" (exhibit hall 11, booth 59). Their presentation contains a wide range of media: oil, acrylic, drawing, pen and ink and collage.

Each Sunday morning this Super Art Festival offers "Fruehschoppen" at 11 a.m. with Jazz, Dixieland and Afro-Latin-American music and, on Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m., art-talkshows with well-known journalists. Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays, the printing press is in operation and you can learn about this technique. Each Saturday guided tours are available at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Learn to make basic household

It's Saturday night and you've invited three couples to dinner. Your appliances are buzzing, hissing and whirring as you make last-minute preparations. Suddenly, the house goes black, silent. You've blown a fuse.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING — Allan Chilla, D. O. D. civilian, demonstrates what he has learned in class.

You grab the phone and call the Directorate of Engineering and Housing (DEH), report that your electricity is on the blink and ask to have someone check it out. You wait in the dark for what seems like several hours before an electrician shows up. Your party has to be canceled. You curse the engineers for being so slow and inefficient.

But the change in your plans is your fault, not DEH's. Probably, you could have prevented the blackout in the first place by not overloading wall sockets with your lamps, mixer, vacuum cleaner, hair dryer, electric frying pans, transformers and stereo equipment.

But, even after the fuse blew, you could have changed it yourself in two minutes if you'd known how to do it. Instead you put in an emergency call, which cost the government about 80 Deutsche Marks, and spoiled your entire evening.

Quit depending on DEH to make minor household repairs and replacements for you. Learn to help yourself!

It's easy when you attend the Self Help Issue Point's (SHIP) training class. In about an hour and a half SSG George A. Moore, SHIP instructor, will teach you how to replace fuses, fluorescent tubes, kitchen exhaust fan filters, bathroom faucet handles, faucet washers and toilet seats.

He'll also show you how to hang drapes; unstop drains and unclog commodes; replace shower heads; install weather stripping, coat hooks and door stoppers; tighten and oil hinges; repair small holes in screens and more.

"People constantly call DEH to make minor repairs that they could accomplish themselves," Moore said. "Some actually put in work orders to have light bulbs changed!" Moore's goal is to have tenants in government housing take on the responsibilities normally assumed by prudent homeowners who are trying to save money and preserve their property.

In his class, Moore outlines some obligations of tenants. He stresses that they should support utility conservation by weather stripping windows and doors, moving furniture and drapes that block radiators and laying rubber mats under carpets as insulation. (Weather stripping and the rubber mats are available, free of charge, at the SHIP.) Moore said a recent test showed that weather stripping an apartment saves, in three months, about 150 Deutsche Marks in fuel costs.

"Most plumbing problems are preventable," Moore added. "If people would pour hot grease into empty coffee cans instead of down sink drains, their pipes wouldn't become clogged. And, if they didn't dump wads of toilet paper, sanitary napkins, diapers and mashed potatoes (!) into toilets, the toilets wouldn't overflow," he said.

When toilets do become stopped up, tenants should try using that ole faithful plumbers' helper, the plunger (available free at the SHIP), to unclog them before calling DEH, Moore said. He added that it's unauthorized to use commercial drain cleaners to clear blocked pipes in government housing. He explained that the chemicals burn plumbers' hands when the pipes are opened and damage the pipes.

Moore said there are many repair jobs that should be handled only by DEH. They include altering walls, floors, balcony doors and ceilings; erecting fences; spraying for household pests; installing electrical wiring; repairing leaky pipes and moving items like exhaust fans and heating equipment. For such jobs, call in a service order, Moore said.

He emphasized that tenants shouldn't try to install sky hooks for hanging plants or hang heavy picture frames on walls. When Did you buy a toilet seat, mattress cover, lamp shade, plunger, carpet pad or toilet paper dispenser the last time you needed one? And, do you usually pay for plumbing and hardware accessories, light bulbs and fuses?

You don't have to. The Self Help Issue Point (SHIP), Directorate of Engineering and Housing (DEH), will give you those items free of charge if you live in government quarters or housing approved by DEH.

Wolfgang Brandt, SHIP manager, said the SHIP stocks more than 3,000 different items. In addition to the supplies available without a work order, some items, like paint, paint brushes and rollers and lumber, can be obtained with approved orders from the Work Reception Order Office, DEH. The SHIP also loans out for three days a basic tool box, which contains a hammer, wrenches, screw drivers, files, pliers, electrical tape, nails, tacks and screws.

He also suggested that tenants with other complicated repairs and alterations make a list of them and report them to the maintenance team that inspects quarters periodically.

These are just a few of the many helpful hints Moore gives in his class. After an individual attends the class, he or she receives a Certificate of Proficiency, which must be presented at the SHIP (see story below) to get items there.

If you live in government quarters or economy housing approved by DEH (or are assigned in a supply area or have repair and utilities duties within your unit and organization) you're eligible to participate in the Self Help Program. Call 6791 to register for Moore's class, which is held Monday through Friday at 8 a.m., 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Room 1, Building 810, Roosevelt Barracks.

BEAR COUNTRY... Here's another of our "Mini Biographies." This time Willie Nelson is the subject. Willie is 46 years old and it took him about 20 of those years to become an "Overnight Success." Along the road, Willie was told by most everyone that he wouldn't make it in the music business. Now that he has, he wants to sing as long as he can. It was back in 1961 when Willie moved to Nashville, where he found success as a songwriter. And he says now that writing music is "like having a baby," and he doesn't look forward to it, writing only when he has to. In 1972, Willie Nelson moved from Nashville to Texas after earning the "outlaw" title from the Country Music establishment. He thinks the label comes from just doing things his own way. As a result, it may have taken him longer to reach his present level of success, but "it was a nicer trip."

BEAR FACTS... We are now in the planning stages of a remote broadcast from the TCA open house next month. Be watching this column for details, but for right now I can say we have some super prizes that we'll be giving away to AFN listeners.

Go the AFRC way and save

Since it's so unusual to get something free these days, many people don't believe that the Armed Forces Recreation Center (AFRC) has a group travel program where buses will pick up a group of 25 or more at their unit and transport them to any AFRC facility and return them to their unit, free of charge.

Yes, there is just such a program, and has been for some time.

The Armed Forces Recreation Center will give free round-trip transportation to any group of 25 or more stationed in the Federal Republic of Germany. Those stationed in Berlin can make arrangements to be picked up at the Frankfurt RTO upon arrival.

Located deep in southern Germany, the Garmisch, Berchtesgaden and Chiemsee recreation centers are all situated just minutes from the Austrian border in the magnificent Bavarian Alps.

These areas are simply beautiful, in the middle of winter or in the heat of summer. With snow and ice or sunshine and flowers, you will enjoy your visit to any of the AFRC facilities.

Enjoy a few days of skiing, tennis, golfing or kayaking, or get involved with one of the LEARN-TO programs. There are many more things to do. However, if you just want to relax and get away from normal duty and routine, you also can use the free group travel program.

Group travel is one of the best ways to enjoy your vacation at AFRC. Once your group is formed a bus will pick you up and all you have to do is sit back and enjoy the comfortable and scenic ride on a big comfortable bus.

Since the beginning of the year more than 6,000 group travelers have taken advantage of the program.

With the value of the dollar being somewhat down these days, groups can enjoy their vacations even more by spending dollars at any AFRC facility.

In addition to spending dollars, coupon booklets are purchased for use at any of these facilities before departure, and the booklet is your ticket to a fun-filled vacation.

Naturally, with a vacation dollar being really worth a dollar and free bus charters, reservations for AFRC hotels can go quickly. So call or write for your reservations up to 90 days in advance.

Your Recreation Services director or unit first sergeant can help you in setting up your group travel — so get all the information on the program and enjoy some exciting fun at AFRC.

For more information write or call: Berchtesgaden and Chiemsee, Group Travel Coordinator, APO 09029, Berchtesgaden military 2538-666, Civilian 08652-58666. Or contact Garmisch and Munich, Group Travel Coordinator, APO 09053, Garmisch military 2535-856, Civilian 08821-750856.

Volksmarching in the FRG

Love volksmarching but hate the all-morning, all-evening drive it takes to get there and back?

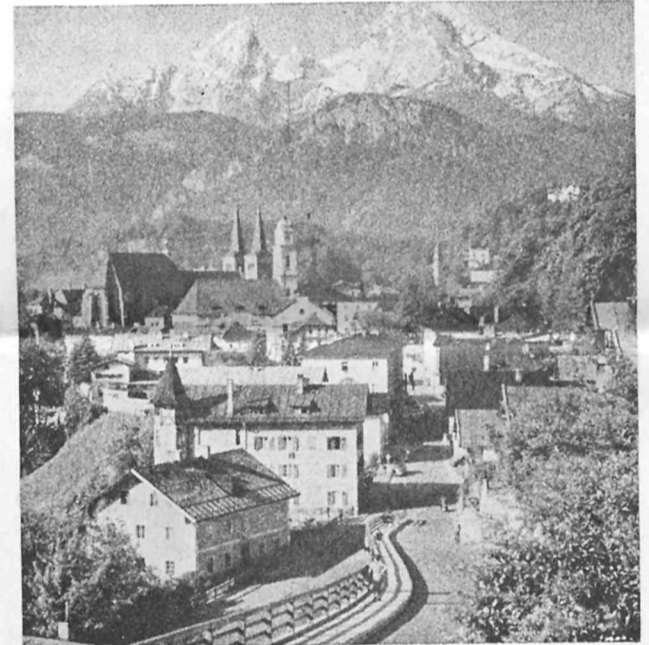

Well, grab your walking stick, forget your car and get a train to Berchtesgaden and the Armed Forces Recreation Center, AFRC. The International Volksmarch Verein, IVV, will hold at least seven marches in and around Berchtesgaden this year, and AFRC will have buses from AFRC hotels to the starting points for six of the seven. The seventh starts and ends in Berchtesgaden itself.

Check into an AFRC hotel the night before, and then rise with the dawn to march on the mountain. Then after lunch and a short siesta, if you've just got to get back, hop back on the train.

First of the marches will be in Mitterfelden-Ainring, April 21 and 22. Opposite Salzburg, but still in the Federal Republic, the march can be reached with an AFRC bus that costs $2 per person. Marchers pay their own entry fees.

Other marches in the region will be held May 26 and 27 in Salzburg, Austria; June 31 and July 1 in Biding, Germany; July 7 and 8 in Hallein, Austria; Sept. 1 and 2, Puch-Hallein, Austria; Sept. 16 in Groedig, Austria, and Sept. 15 and 16 in Berchtesgaden.

Bus transportation will range in cost up to $3.50. For trips into Austria dependents and civilians need passports while active duty personnel need leave papers endorsed for Austria and military ID's.

DYA soccer season kicks off

By Bob Bush

The DYA E league soccer action got into full swing this weekend at TCA with a full schedule of games. In Saturday's action the Sting led by "Iron man" Chris Franklin, Dennis Harbison and Matt Spierre displayed awesome power in beating the Cosmos 5-0. The Metros scored the most goals of the day in beating the Earthquakes 6-0. Chuck Swartout and Eric Carpenter were standouts on offense while Lisa Oberst was great on defense. The Rowdies and the Tornados battled to a hard-fought 1-1 tie. In that game each team traded goals in each half with the Tornados scoring first.

quick goals and scored a final one at the game's end. The Rowdies led by Fred Carcia, Troy Underwood and Kevin Rhyne edged out a close 1-0 victory over the inspired Earthquakes who were led by Urguhart, McGrath and John Goff.

The final game of the day proved to be a real cliffhanger as the Metros turned back the Cosmos 1-0. In that game, Scooter Autry was fantastic in the Cosmos net and John Bittle was a standout on the offense.

Other league action

The DYA D league soccer action saw 11 and 12 year olds kick off the season with three games last Saturday.

In the first game, the Heroes lost to a defensive Thunderbirds 1-0. Game two saw the Red Barons roll over the Blue Bombers 1-0, and in game three, Manchester United tied the Warriors 1-1.

"All the players played excellent defense considering these were the first games of the season," explained John Fort, D league director. "Hopefully, as the season progresses, we'll see more offense."

The soccer season is in full swing now and it looks like it will be a good learning experience for all involved.

FSB volleyball

by Gary Meyers
FSB correspondent

Field Station Berlin, women's volleyball team moved into a first place tie with MEDDAC's women, by virtue of a hard fought win over the Berlin American High School women's team. This victory pushed FSB women's team record to 8-1, tying them with MEDDAC, 8-1.

FSB got off to a very good start, blowing BAHS out 15-0 in the first game. Karen Nance started the route by six consecutive points. Karen's serves eased FSB out to a 9-0 lead. BAHS called a time out to hopefully slow FSB's momentum. Karen muffed her next serve but her teammates picked up where she left off. Excellent efforts by Maridee Chavez, "Feather Feathersen", and Bev Rupp kept BAHS out of the first game, not allowing them to score a point in the 15-0 match.

BAHS was not discouraged by the loss, as they consistently used their three hits to their advantage beating FSB in the second game. BAHS did a fine job at moving and setting the ball in the second game. Their ball movement combined with FSB's sloppy play allowed BAHS to erase a 6-0 lead by the FSB women. BAHS tied the score at seven and went on to win, 15-10.

Field Station women slightly shocked by BAHS turn-around in the second game, jumped out to a 9-0 lead in the final and deciding game of the match. After taking the large lead, FSB women coasted into a 15-3 victory to take the match two games to one.

This victory set the stage for the upcoming FSB, MEDDAC game for sole possession of first place. MEDDAC will be looking to avenge an earlier loss to Field Station. This game promised to be an exciting one, in that both teams have vastly improved since their first meeting.

Easter Customs Stem From Antiquity

Easter Singers

Many of our present Easter customs stem from antiquity. For example, the sunrise service. It was a common belief among early Christians that the sun danced in honor of the resurrection, and many people rose long before dawn to see the event.

Today, such services are held on mountaintops, at the seashores, and in hundreds of spots in between. The most elaborate is the service staged in the Hollywood Bowl, Calif. On Easter morning an estimated 30,000 people are on hand for the service.

The Easter egg also had its beginnings in the ancient past. Early philosophers gave special significance to the oval shape of elemental things, from the raindrop to the seed, and the oval Easter egg is an outgrowth of ancient pagan rites associated with the rebirth of nature.

The name, Easter, comes from the Scandinavian and Teutonic words, Ostra and Ostern, both goddesses of mythology signifying the coming of spring.

As for the traditional Easter parade, it goes back thousands of years to the time when the Christian emperor Constantine commanded his council to bedeck themselves in their more elegant robes to observe the day honoring Christ's resurrection. Coupled with this was a popular belief that one must wear a new article of clothing on Easter to ensure good fortune for the rest of the year.

As one writer points out, many of our Easter customs are the direct result of the early Church's attempts to combat pagan customs: "It was the invariable policy of the early Church to give a Christian significance to such of the extant pagan ceremonies as would not be rooted out. In the case of Easter, the conversion was peculiarly easy. Joy at the rising of the natural sun, and at the awakening of nature from the death of winter, became joy at the rising of the son of righteousness, at the resurrection of Christ from the grave."

4-6ers learning to be good NCOs

"My squad leader doesn't care." How often have you heard that line? To teach squad leaders how to be good leaders and NCOs, the 4th Battalion, 6th Infantry, took the initiative and began a Squad Leaders Course.

Thirty-two hours of in-class instruction took place recently at the McNair Education and the 4-6 Learning centers. Lectures, discussions and practical applications were all included. Sessions concerned: methods of instruction and the use of training aids; counseling and promotions;

Skill Qualification Testing and communications; the protective mask and the functions of PAC and CDAAC. Guest Speakers and instructors included COL W. A. Holbrook, deputy brigade commander, and CSM T. D. Offutt, brigade sergeant major.

The goal of the course was to enhance NCO professionalism by providing squad and team leaders with the basic knowledge necessary to instill confidence in themselves and their men, and to teach the NCOs everything they need to know to perform their duties and successfully accomplish their mission.

Over 80 per cent of the squad leaders assigned to 4-6 participated in the course, and they all agreed that they wanted to spend even more time learning to be even better NCOs. Now, no one in this unit can honestly say, "My squad leader doesn't care."

Squad leaders at 4-6 learn how to be good NCOs.

Passover

Continuing Quest for Freedom

Passover, which begins on April 12th this year, is one of the first and most important festivals of the Jewish year, commemorating the deliverance of Israel from bondage in Egypt.

The Passover feast starts at nightfall, and unleavened bread, called matzo, is served to remind the participants of the hasty departure of the Jews from Egypt when they had no time to let the dough for their bread rise.

Four cups of wine are drunk at special parts of the meal or service, each representing one of God's promises to the Israelites. At a solemn moment, the doors of the house are thrown open for the prophet Elijah, who may appear to announce the coming of the Messiah, followed by the words: "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

At another point in the meal, the youngest son asks the reasons for the celebration and he is answered by the recital of the Haggadah, an account of the story of slavery under the Pharaoh and the deliverance of the Israelites from Egypt.

Various items of food are eaten during the meal and service, each having special significance. The hard-boiled egg is the symbol of life, Israel's optimistic affirmation of the sanctity of life. It is dipped in salt water in sympathy with the bitter lot of the Jewish ancestors. For the same reason, bitter herbs are eaten. A mixture of nuts and apples reminds the family of the mortar used by the Jewish slaves in the building of cities for their cruel taskmasters.

The feast of Passover has become the symbol of mankind's oldest and most cherished ideal, freedom from enslavement. To the Jew it is an annual reminder that the work to insure freedom is never ended.

As the Haggadah, recited during the service declares, "In each generation, the Jew must regard himself as though he personally had been delivered from the hands of the Egyptians."
